

Numerical simulations are performed of the approach to a spacetime singularity both in the case of compact Cauchy surfaces and the case of asymptotically flat initial data. The behavior of the spacetime as the singularity is approached is found.